A few hardy souls braved the windswept, rain-lashed conditions to take part in the West Highland Wheelers Xmas handicap in Glen Nevis. Cory Muir and Ben Corner sprinted for the line to take equal first spot in a photo finish. Gavin Linfield was the first adult home, just in front of Roddy Wells. It was good to see a few folk returning to have some fun, including Stephen Cant and Jane Bruce. All those who took part managed to munch a mince pie and grab a coffee at the finish, fortunately just as a patch of blue sky crossed Braveheart car park. Thanks to Ruari Watt of the Forestry Commission. The Wheelers are next out on Sunday 30th December for an intriguing lap-based event from Nevis Range car park.
